My research My initial research interests were in graph theory (with an emphasis on hamiltonian cycles and later on perfect graphs) and in combinatorics (with an emphasis on extremal problems). Then they extended to analysis of algorithms (with an emphasis on cutting-plane proofs) and to operations research (with an emphasis on linear programming).

Chvátal first became interested in linear programming through the influence of Jack Edmonds while Chvátal was a student at Waterloo. He quickly recognized the importance of cutting planes for attacking combinatorial optimization problems such as computing maximum independent sets and, in particular, introduced the notion of a cutting-plane proof.
